

Partnership for the Umpqua Rivers

Your Watershed Council

Partnerships in Watershed Restoration

Partnerships

What is in a Partnership

- Trust
 - The Good, the Bad and the Ugly
- Communication
 - The norm isn't the norm
- Creative Collaborative Thinking
 - Problem Solving Attitude
 - Moral and Ethical Professional Rebelliousness
- Positive Approach
 - Flexibility
 - Ingenuity

Strategic Planning

- PUR 5 Year Planning
 - Long Range: Smarter allocation of resource
- Large Collaboratives
 - Whole Watershed Restoration
 - Basin-Wide Initiatives
 - Leveraging Funding
- Out of the Box Thinking
- Staying Connected on a Broader Scale
- Marketing What We Do
- Staying Current in our Field/Continued Learning

Tenmile Creek Restoration

6 Sites

Materials

- 15 Logs
- 10 Trees
- 500 Tons of Boulders
- 65' Railcar Bridge

Design

- Salmonid Habitat: Summer rearing & Winter refuge
- Livestock Crossing

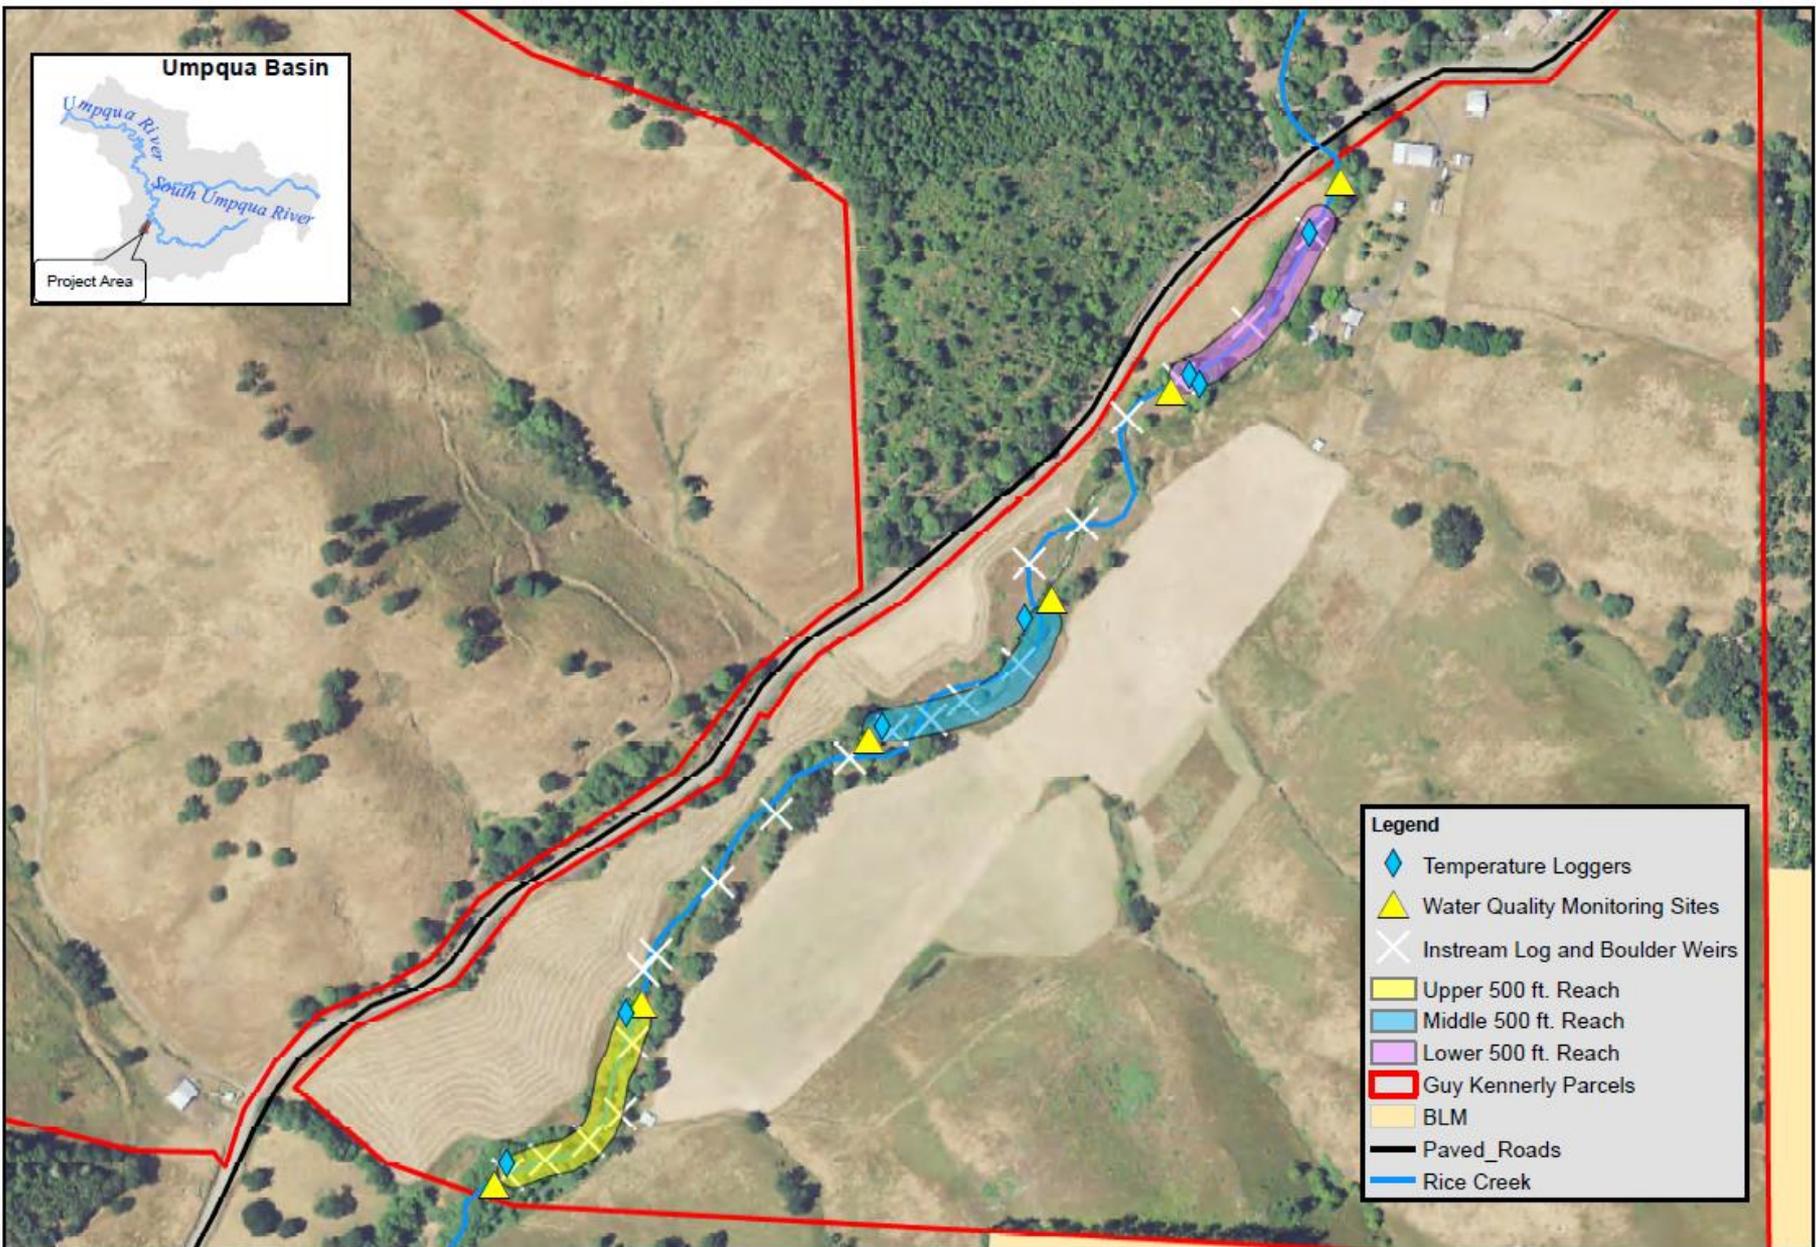

Rice Creek Effectiveness Monitoring

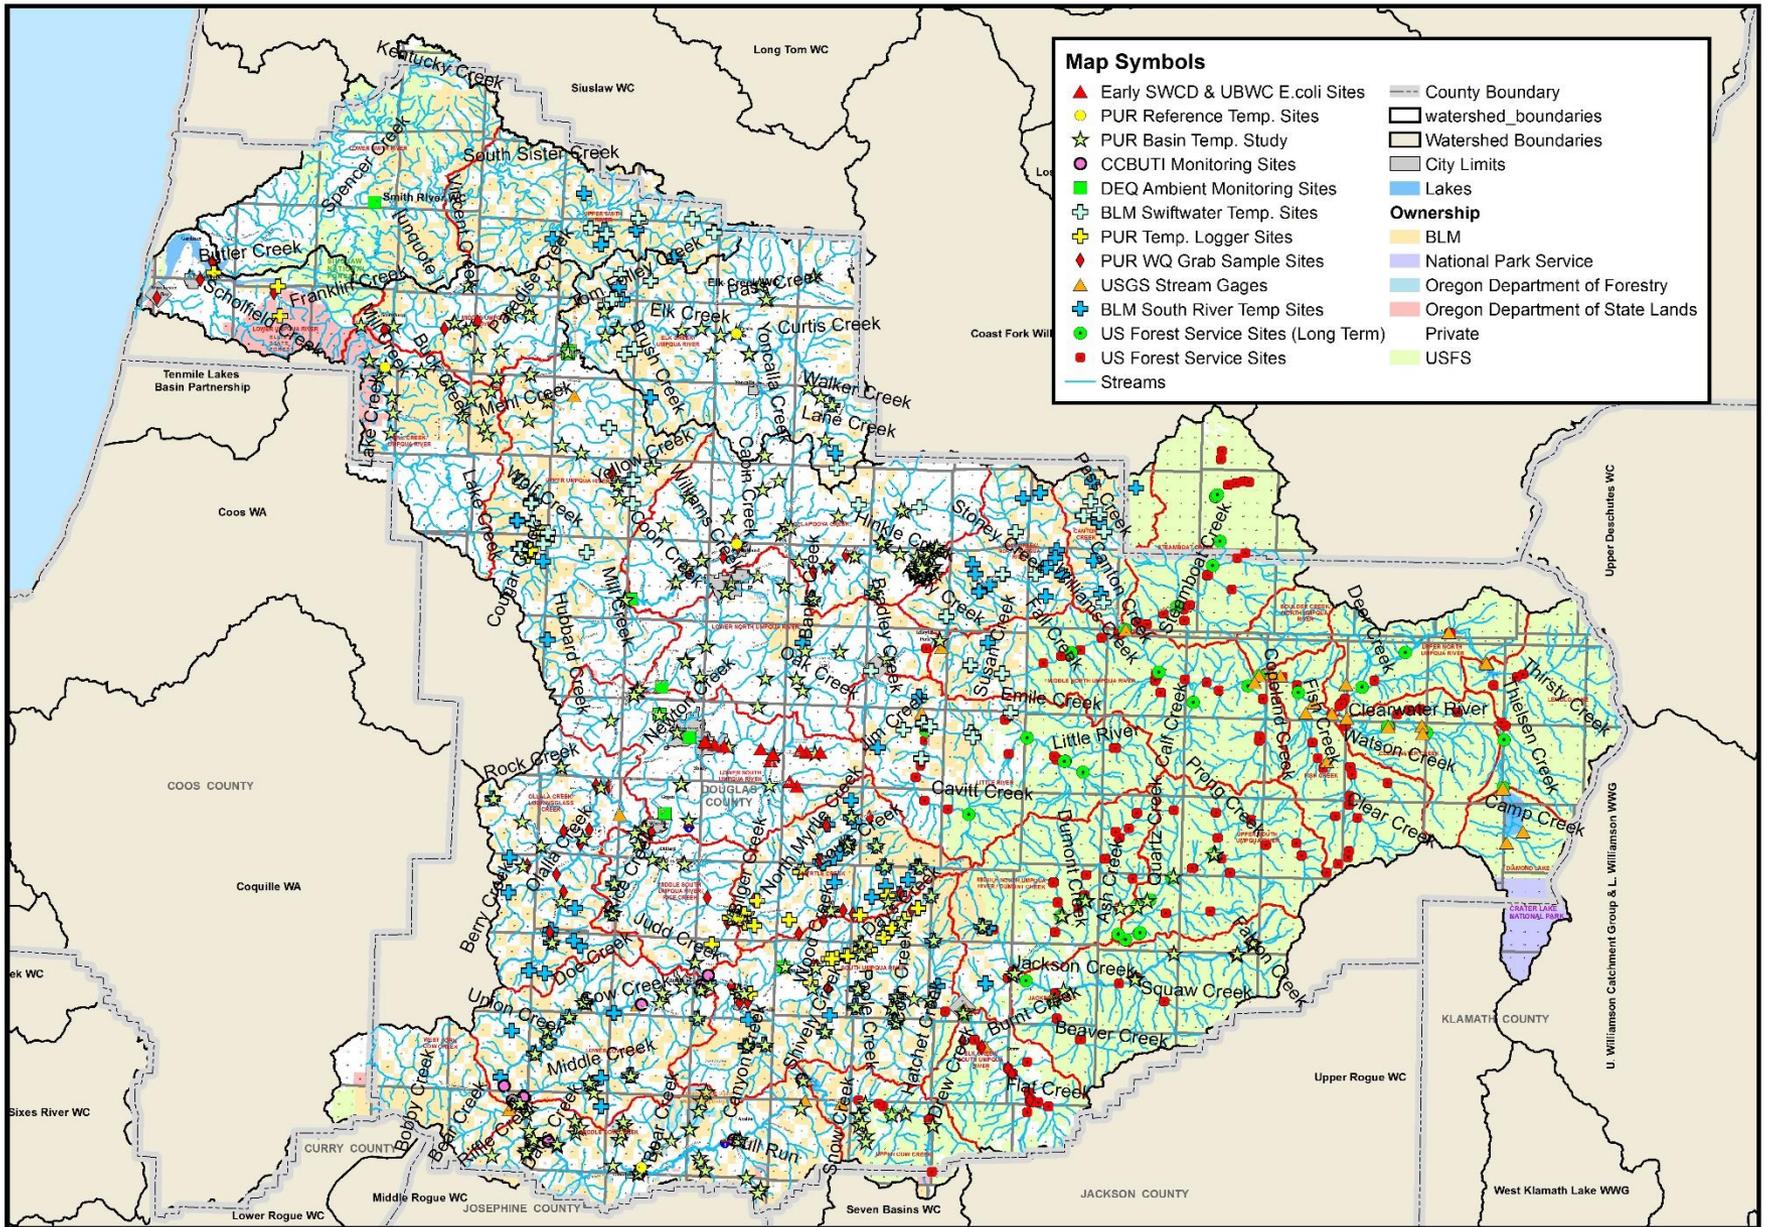

ODFW Habitat Survey training day, Eric Himmelreich (ODFW) and Steve Clark (BLM) in the field training PUR staff and volunteers how to properly conduct the survey.

Macroinvertebrate training day, DEQ's Steve Hanson and Shannon Hubler in the field showing a large group of volunteers how to collect macroinvertebrates using proper protocol methods.

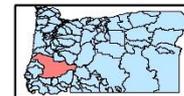

Partnership for the Umpqua Rivers

Sites That Have Been Monitored for Water Quality in the Umpqua Basin (Years and Parameters Monitored Not Displayed)

0 3.5 7 14 21 28 Miles

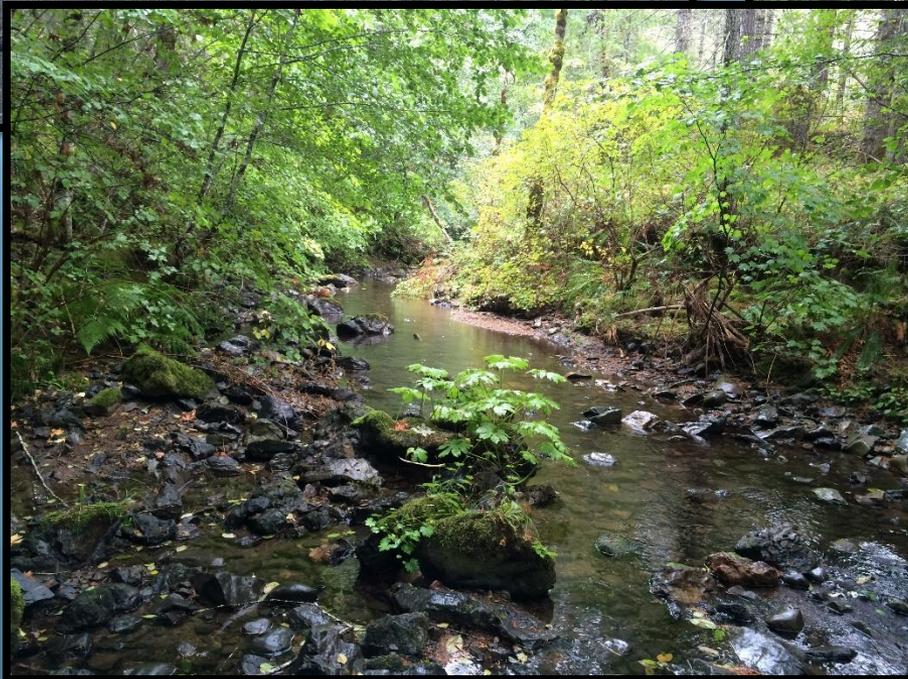

West Fork Cow Creek TA

5th Field Scale Restoration Effort

- Medford BLM
- CCBUTI
- RRCo.
- Weyerhaeuser
- others

Action Plan

New Partnership

Partnership for the Umpqua Rivers

Your Watershed Council

Questions

Contact Us:

Umpquarivers.org

1758 NE Airport Rd. Roseburg, OR 97470

541/673-5756

Facebook: www.facebook.com/UmpquaRivers

Website: www.umpquarivers.org

